Waging Peace in Our Schools and Developing Inner Resilience
- Linda Lantieri is a Fulbright Scholar and internationally known expert in social and emotional learning, conflict resolution and intergroup relations. She is founding director of the inner resilience program.
- As we confront increasing stresses in these uncertain times, this highly relevant and meaningful presentation will address how adults and children can actively cultivate the pro-social and mental qualities that nurture compassion for oneself and others. We will discuss how the processes of attention, emotional balance, and relationship building contribute toward making the embodiment and expression of compassion a trainable skill that can be developed.
- Following the keynote, we will actively engage in skill-building practices and activities to help develop inner strength and resiliency, so we can then bring these practices to our Montessori school communities.
- 4:00 pm - 5:00 pm Closing • Meet and Mingle • Networking

FEE: $350 per person includes continental breakfast and lunch
